Natural Retreats

What is Natural Retreats?

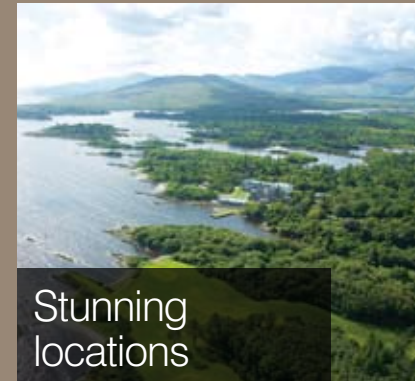

Natural Retreats is, more than anything else, a commitment. A commitment to quality, unique experiences, luxury and, crucially, service. Our product is the promise we give to our customers that they are going to experience something significantly different, beyond anything they have experienced with any other corporate venue.

Natural Retreats offers stunning venues across Ireland and the UK catering for corporate clients, offering extraordinary events from conferences and formal meetings to staff reward schemes and team building activities. Superb facilities, in stunning locations with luxurious private residences and a wide variety of activities are just a few of the many reasons corporate clients are choosing Natural Retreats.

An equally compelling reason is our concierge service, which, unique amongst other locations, offers corporate clients a direct link to experienced on-the-ground expertise and resource to organise special events, liaise with local attractions and service providers and make sure every single requirement is fully researched, managed and delivered beyond expectations.

As much as Natural Retreats is a commitment to quality, it is a guarantee of success whatever your corporate requirement.
